FINAL REPORT

All lands held under this reservation are shown on the accompanying plat.

Exploration for bentonite on these lands was conducted with a Parmanco drill. Samples of bentonite obtained by drilling were sent to our laboratory in Colony, Wyoming and tested by standard industry methods.

The enclosed map shows the location of all holes drilled on this quarter-section and the identifying hole numbers. Above the number we have shown first, the inches of bentonite and secondly, the depth of the overburden in feet and inches. Below the hole number we have shown the initial yield of the various samples from that hole. The yield is expressed in barrels of drilling fluid per ton.

No tonnage of bentonite could be estimated on this quarter-section because clean bentonite was encountered in only one very small area. Sufficient drilling in the more favorable areas has convinced us that no bentonite of economic importance will be found and we therefor have no further interest.

The enclosed map of the SW $\frac{1}{4}$ of Section 11, Township 57, Range 2, West of the 5th Meridian shows all holes drilled under this letter of privilege.
